Collection Agency Endorsed by The Conditioned Air Association of Georgia

American Profit Recovery with Expertise in Many Industries to Assist Those in the HVAC Business

Marlborough, Mass. January, 2012 -- American Profit Recovery, a collection agency with expertise in many industries and trades has just been endorsed by The Conditioned Air Association of Georgia, a trade organization representing those in the HVAC field. This adds to a long list of endorsements for this company.

The organization has welcomed American Profit Recovery to their “family of business partners” because of the “very different and refreshing approach” to collections. American Profit Recovery a collection agency in Michigan with other offices in Massachusetts and North Carolina will assist members of the organization by providing a cost-effective and diplomatic solution to late and non-paying customers. That includes their flat fee collections system.

“We have endorsed American Profit Recovery for one very simple reason; they are different,” stated Bruce Widener, executive director of The Conditioned Air Association of Georgia. “We have and will continue to encourage our membership to use APR because they know how to improve their cash flow and they do it in a way that preserves the relationship our members have built with their customers.”

The Conditioned Air Association of Georgia represents contractors who are engaged in the design, sales, installation, maintenance, service and repair of heating, ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration (HVAC) for residential, commercial, industrial and institutional customers. Many of these professionals are small businesses that rely heavily on cash flow. American Profit Recovery has a team of experts on staff that understands the ins and outs of running a small business and that team will work to complement the internal accounts receivables procedures of these operations.

“We have countless endorsements from those organizations representing small business and various trades,” states Jeff DiMatteo, a partner at American Profit Recovery. “We have built this confidence above other collection agencies because of our tactful approach and our flat fee collections system; something owners of small businesses are very attracted to.”
